

You open up the room, or walk into a room where the art activities are going on, and there's a quiet, people are really engaged in something. I really love that.

The Exposed

people could see the reasons why

It's no longer, you know, George in the chair, it's George who did the Andy Warhol print, you know, or whatever.

only good things come from that

I have plans,

I will go in with plans,

but sometimes I abandoned them
